New Conference Dates: May 22-27, 2022

Dear Catalysis Community,

During these very uncertain times, we remain focused on our objective to find the best way to bring our community safely together for a successful conference. As we continue to monitor the evolving global situation, it has become clear an in-person conference in May 2021 will not be possible in the format we know to be for an effective meeting. Working closely with our venue, we have agreed to postpone the conference one year to May 22-27, 2022.

We believe this path will enable us to bring the community together once again for an in-person conference allowing for the valuable interactions and discussions we are used to. In the coming weeks, we will continue to update our website and communicate any additional relevant details.

We wish everyone a safe and Happy Thanksgiving.

With regards,

The Organizing Committee of the 27th North American Catalysis Society Meeting
